The introduction of the Gallinger bill will, it is believed, mark the beginning of a hot basis between advocates of different forms of public utilities commissions. Already conciliatory influences are at committees. Both committees commission, the four to prevent the threatened of a not tossic between advocates of different forms of public utilities commissions in but Senate and House District committees. Both committees now have public utility bills on their calendary, and in both bodies there is an evident desire to put through some legislation along this line.

It is considered probable that Senator Callinger's bill will be favorably reported that in this case half a loaf will be more beselicial to the District than no bread, and that the question is not so vital as to balance the success or failure of the proposed commission.

PREPARE FOR FIGHT ON ECONOMY BODY

Taft Commission Marked by House Committee.

Members of the House Appropriations Committee are collecting ammunition for use against President Taft's executive department economy commission. Representative Page, of North Carolina, a member of the Democratic majority, yesterday introduced a resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to all clerks who have been detailed for service with "commit-tees or commissions" since March 4.

Mr. Page said last night that his rear Mr. Page said last night that his reso-lution was aimed at the economy com-mission, and he expected to show from the report that clerks detailed from the Treasury and other departments for service with the commission have, upon returning to their departments, found better positions at better salaries await-ing them.

better positions at better salaries awaiting them.

"I know of several instances of this kind," said Mr. Page, "and I want to find out how general this practice has become. I believe there have been a large number of such instances."

The resolution calls for the names of all clerks who, since March 4, 1906, have been detailed as members, stenographers, or typewriters of any committee or commission "to examine into methods of auditing, accounting, bookkeeping, or relative system of recording and keeping the efficiency of the employment of any bureau or division of said department."

The resolution seeks to learn the salary and position of each clerk at the time of the detail, and the present salaries and positions of those who have returned to their departments. Also whether the salary of the position now occupied by any member of the commission has been increased by act of Congress.

with competent men always on hand to properly influence members of the Houses of Congress by putting their propositions squarely before them. A lobby should be no educational institution, however, rather than an institution of corruption. The Speaker said he believed both Houses of Congress favored the good roads movement. He told the conference that the only way the desired legislition could be obtained was through maintaining a lobby at the Canticl and educating the Congressmen. He advocated a memorial highway; to be known as the Lincoln National Road. He also expressed himself in favor of liberal Federal aid in road building. A motion to indorse the Lincoln memorial highway project was strongly opposed.

TEXT OF THE RESOLUTION AS PASSED BY THE HOUSE

RESOLVED, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

That the people of the United States assert as a fundamental principle that the rights of its citizens shall not be impaired at home or abroad because of race or religion.

That the government of the United States concludes its treaties for the equal protection of all classes of its citizens, without regard to race or religion. That the government of the United States will not be a party to any treaty which discriminates or which by one of the parties thereto is so construed as to discriminate between American citizens on the ground of race or religion. That the government of Russia has violated the treaty between the United States and Russia, concluded at St. Petersburg December 18, 1832, refusing to honor American passports duly issued to American citizens on account of race and religion.

That in the judgment of Congress the said treaty, for reasons aforesaid, ought to be terminated at the earliest possible time. That for the aforesaid reasons the said treaty is hereby declared to be terminated, and of no further force and effect from the expiration of one year after the date of notification to the government of Russia of the terms of this resolution, and,

That to this end the President is hereby charged with the duty of communicating such notice to the government of Russia.

House District Committee Fixes
Day for Weekly Meetings.
Both House and Senate District committees will meet Pridays this session.
The House Committee yesterday selected that day for its meetings, and the Senate Committee has met on that day for several sessions.

No business was transacted at the first meeting of the House District Committee yesterday beyond the selection of a regular meeting day. There was a general exchange of views, and the chairman, in an informal talk, spoke briefly of the need for harmony of purpose and aution in the committee. It is probable a meeting will be called for to-morrow.

This being so, it is apparent that Russia has for years continually violated the provisions of the treaty by refusing or recognize pasaports granted by Article I of that treaty should extend examily to every citizen of any kind whatsoever.

PROLONGS LIFE OF OLD PEOPLE

In spite of the excellent care that elderly people usually take of themselves, there are few indeed who do not suffer from constipation. It is the one besetting trouble. Many remedies both actual and fanciful are tried from time to time, but none are of any permanent value. But, we ask, have you ever tried DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEP-SINT Doubtless not, for in the opinion of many thousands of reliable peo-ple a permanent cure would have resulted. While claims are made for this y in the various aliments of the stomach, liver, and bowels, there is torder for which Dr. Caldwell receives more testimonials than for pation. And the majority of the writers, both men and women, are elderly people who had tried most everything else. They claim not to elderly people who had tried most everything else. They claim not to have found anything that benefited them permanently until they took DR. CALD-WELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN, and they urge that they owe many years of their life to its use. This is in a measure true, for there is nothing more important to the health of elderly people than keeping the bowels open. This can essily be done with DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN. It is the greatest aid to nature ever discovered. It regulates the bowels mildly and readually, unlike salts and cathartics, which operate violently and are shock to the average system. Then, DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN has tonic properties, and these tonic ingredients strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that in time all medicines can be dispensed with and nature again does its own work. If the reader is not having at least one free and healthy passage a day a bottle of this remedy should promptly be obtained. The results will surprise you, and you will then always keep it on hand against similar emergencies.
